Verdict

FINAL ANSWER

Unlikely for now

The chart does not support it at this time. Try again later or change the approach.

Score -2.5 · Judge Uqla · Matter Bayaz

Judge · Uqla

No / long delay. When Uqla is the judge (house 15), the overall verdict carries its nature: unfavourable (delaying). Be patient and do not force doors open. Use this time for discipline, saving and planning. Serving elders and the poor softens Saturn.

Matter · Bayaz

Yes - favourable. Bayaz is especially strong in house 1, the Self (Tan Bhav). This house rules your body, personality, mind, health and the question itself. It shows your present condition and intention. The shakal's nature of peace, clarity and wise speech supports these matters well, so the affairs of this house are likely to succeed. If the judge (house 15) is also favourable, treat the answer as a clear yes.

You · Bayaz

Bayaz means 'white'. It is the shakal of purity, peace, clarity, wisdom and calm. It shows gentle and fair outcomes, good intentions and success through intelligence and patience rather than force.

Perfection

No perfection: your shakal and the matter's shakal do not meet, so the judge carries the answer alone.

Witnesses and end of the matter

Right witness · Jamaat

Jamaat means 'gathering' or 'crowd'. It has no strong character of its own and reflects whatever surrounds it, like water taking the shape of its container. It shows groups, public, meetings, many people involved and situations that are stable but slow to change.

Left witness · Uqla

Uqla means 'shackle' or 'fetter'. It is a closed shape, like a locked room. It shows restriction, blockage, delay, isolation and being stuck. Things that are already in place stay fixed, while new things cannot enter or leave.

House 4 · Farah

Yes. House 4 shows how the matter finishes. A good shakal here means it ends well; a delaying shakal (Uqla, Ankees) means the last part may be held up; a leaving shakal (Kabjul Kharij, Ataba Kharij) means something slips away at the end.

Reconciler · Nakiul Khad

Nakiul Khad means 'clean-cheeked' - a young, graceful woman. It is the shakal of beauty, harmony, love, art and pleasant manners. It brings good results through kindness, charm and cooperation, though it can be a little changeable. The result settles well in the long run.

Timing

Very slow - months or years.

What to do

Use calm words and clear thinking. Write things down, consult wise people and keep your intentions clean.

Guidance from Uqla

Favourable for

- Keeping property, money or a position secure
- Questions where you want stability and no change
- Matters of land and long-term foundations

Not favourable for

- New ventures, travel and change
- Marriage and relationships (coldness, distance)
- Release from jail, hospital or debt
- Quick results of any kind
